

REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT 1972-1973

LEBANON VALLEY COLLEGE, ANNVILLE, PENNSYLVANIA

INTRODUCTION

An annual report serves not only to inform interested persons of a year's highlights and accomplishments, but also it serves to force the president's review of where we have been as we look to where we are going. No institution knows better than the liberal arts college the necessary relationship between the two.

However simple or complicated was the past, and however uncertain the future, the college whose interest rests in the rich development of human beings recognizes singularity and wholeness in life. It recognizes the tie between burden and joy. It recognizes the relationship between yesterday and tomorrow.

The 1972-1973 year was a fine one in many ways. Academic achievement was high. The new academic calendar was a success. Extra-curricular programs engaged the participation of many students and received the applause of many spectators. Some quietly innovated programs were highly successful. These new and diverse programs included special psychological services through the office of the dean of students, an interdisciplinary course in English and philosophy, the return of intercollegiate baseball, a program in the evening school entitled ENRICH in business administration.

No year is devoid of some weaknesses and failures. We continued to wrestle with some in 1972-1973, and plans to combat others were initiated. May this report give both some of the strengths and weaknesses of the year, and may it help us in the years to come.

THE STUDENTS

One of the most pleasing reports to make regarding the 1972-1973 students is the evidence of extraordinarily high academic achievement. Twelve students, an unusually large number, received Departmental Honors at Commencement in May. Twenty-one students entered the freshman-sophomore honors section program. The Dean's List contained 221 students at the end of the first semester and 242 at the conclusion of the second semester. These numbers take on particular significance when it is recognized that the full-time students in the College numbered only 1006 at the beginning of the first semester and 980 at the start of the second semester.

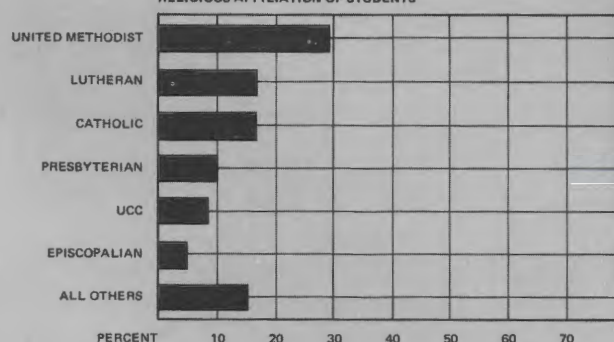

The 1006 full-time students could be separated in a variety of ways. There were 544 men and 462 women. Resident students numbered 858 while commuting students numbered 148. Students came from six different countries, twenty-one different states, and forty-five different counties of Pennsylvania. Their choices of major fields of study as well as other information can be derived from the accompanying graphs.

As was indicated in the introduction to this report, the extra-curricular program engaged much of the time and energy of the students and proved to be an outlet for much talent and creativity which do not always appear in the formal classroom. The Allan W. Mund College Center continued providing opportunities for congenial student life impossible only a few years ago. After four years' experience with the student government program initiated in 1969, there continued to be failures and confrontations unexpected at the time of its formation. Studies of specific concerns and weaknesses were begun and must continue into the years ahead.

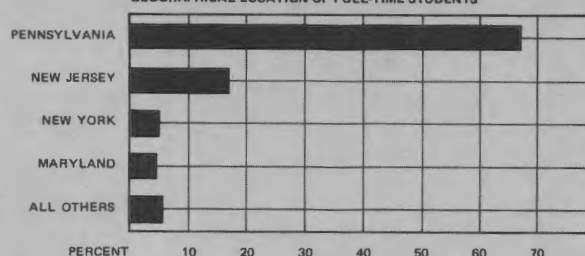

The students participated more fully in the religious activities and organizations of the campus than at any time in many years. Under student leadership activities ranged from communion services to coffee hours to lectures to flood relief programs.

In addition to academic advisement and spiritual enrichment, the students sought personal counseling of great variety. More than 2500 counseling sessions occurred in the offices of the Dean of Students. Although students sometimes failed to take advantage of programs provided for them, the usual situation was one of generous use of campus opportunities.

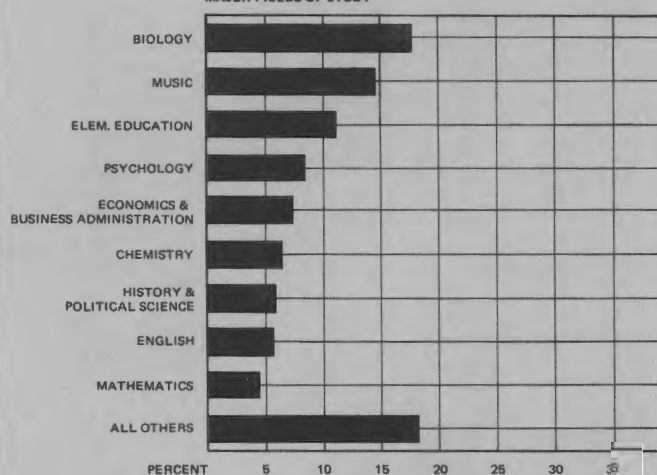

RELIGIOUS AFFILIATION OF STUDENTS

GEOGRAPHICAL LOCATION OF FULL-TIME STUDENTS

MAJOR FIELDS OF STUDY

THE FACULTY

The faculty numbered seventy-three full-time and eighteen part-time members for the 1972-1973 academic year. Although the number of part-time faculty was larger than ideal, most of them were in the music department which required the high number with unique assignments. The number of faculty was increased over the previous year to match the increased enrollment and to keep the student-faculty ratio at approximately thirteen to one.

Dr. Arthur Ford and Captain Charles Cooper were on sabbatical leave for the year to England and Spain respectively.

New members of the full-time faculty were Dr. Roger Carlson, assistant professor of psychology; Bruce Correll, instructor in physical education and coach; Dr. James Dively, assistant professor of biology; Dr. Michael Hall, assistant professor of mathematics; John Heffner, instructor in philosophy; Dennis Sweigart, assistant professor of piano; Bartlett Swett, assistant professor of education; Dr. William Warner, assistant professor of economics and business administration; Virginia Watkins, instructor in piano; and Robert Wood, Jr., assistant professor of economics and business administration. Dr. Richard Kirby and Ema Paviolo substituted for Dr. Ford and Captain Cooper, while Dr. David Ben-Ami filled a one year appointment in sociology.

Professor O. Pass Bollinger retired at the conclusion of the year after twenty-three years of service in the biology department. He graduated from Lebanon Valley College in 1928. Dr. Harry Weast retired after six years in Lebanon Valley's education department and forty-six years in the field of education. Others concluding services were Dr. Dively, Mrs. Garman, Dr. Hall, Dr. Lyndrup, and Mr. Swett.

During the year the percentage of regular, full-time faculty members holding an earned doctorate was by department as follows: biology, 83%; chemistry, 83%; economics and business administration, 75%; education, 40%; English, 57%; foreign language, 75%; history and political science, 75%; mathematics, 75%; music, 16%; philosophy, 0%; physics, 67%; psychology, 100%; religion, 100%; sociology, 100%; art, 0%; physical education, 0%. The diverse educational backgrounds of the faculty members were revealed in a survey which showed that fifty-two different institutions had conferred undergraduate degrees upon them, and sixty-three different universities had conferred graduate degrees upon them.

Although the faculty was forced to conduct some undesirably large classes during the year, close and effective relationships with the students were assisted by the usual small number of students in most classes. Almost sixty-per cent of the classes had twenty or fewer students in them. In fact more than thirty per cent of the classes had ten or fewer students in them. These figures indicate that the faculty gave the students the big advantage of our thirteen to one student-faculty ratio.

CURRICULUM & PROGRAM

One of the most significant departmental curriculum developments in 1972-1973 was in the music department where a new three-track system was instituted for music education majors. The three tracks now permit students to concentrate in instrumental or vocal music, or to follow the general approach which had previously been the only system available.

Another major curriculum change was the establishment of a social science major. The new social science major reflects a recognition of the importance of interdisciplinary programs, as well as provides an alternate path to a social science teaching certificate.

The increased interest in interdisciplinary work was also evidenced by the offering of the new course, Philosophy in Literature, sponsored cooperatively by the English and philosophy departments. Just as had been courses offered cooperatively by the English and psychology departments, the new course was immediately well received.

Increased opportunities for evening school students were provided by the introduction of the ENRICH program in business administration. This program was designed primarily for persons in business and industry. It enables the individual to take sixty credits of related work on a continuous basis, and the work can also be used as a substantial part of the baccalaureate program if the person wishes to continue.

In looking at the College curriculum in its entirety, many man-hours were used for discussing and giving consideration to a proposal entitled "Expectations and the Bachelor's Degree." The primary concern was to give better description and definition to a degree conferred by the College as a result of a major in any specific department.

The Board of Trustees, the students, the alumni, and friends joined the faculty and administration in discussion of the proposal. Although the task is difficult, the interest was high, and additional discussions and considerations must continue.

During the spring visitors from other campuses assisted our faculty by sharing their experiences with curricular changes in their respective colleges. It was easily determined that no two colleges are alike, but it was extremely helpful to focus on specific cases and to understand more fully the joint obligations and responsibilities that must be carefully associated with college wide curricular change.

More discussion about the curriculum and more change in the curriculum occurred in 1972-1973 than in any other recent year. This effort must continue, but we always must guard against change for the sake of change. In accordance with our purpose curricular improvements must be soundly developed.

THE LIBRARY

In accordance with several evaluations during the past few years, budget provisions for the library operation (excluding salaries) were increased twenty-eight per cent in 1972-1973. This increase allowed for greater efforts in building suitable collections and allowed for performance of better student services. Plans were made to continue these efforts.

The task of reclassifying our collection from the Dewey Decimal System to the Library of Congress system continued during the year. This reclassification will also continue in the coming years with completion possible by 1976.

Another step in the desired physical changes for the library was completed at the end of the year. An air conditioning system was installed in the lower floor similar to the one provided on the main floor a few years ago. Only the upper floor remains without this advantage. The lower floor also became the location of a separate room for a new computer center to be installed in 1973-1974. This center will be self contained and will be operated chiefly for the academic program during library hours.

Student use of the library increased appreciably during the 1972-1973 year. This increase seemed to be in response to improvements and changes in the library and in response to the added services available.

THE ADMINISTRATIVE STAFF

The separate offices of dean of men and dean of women were eliminated at the beginning of the year, and Dr. George R. Marquette, formerly dean of men, became dean of students with responsibility to reorganize the program of student services. Dr. Mary Ann Fritz became associate dean of students, and Miss Marcia Gehris was appointed assistant to the dean of students to help Dean Marquette conduct the new organization and program.

Mr. Eugene Shaffer joined the office of admissions as counselor in admissions, and Miss Mimi Meyer joined the administrative staff as administrative assistant to the vice president and dean of the college.

During the year Mr. Paul Pickard and Mr. James Bowman departed from the public relations department. Mrs. Ann Monteith completed the year as acting director of public relations, and she was appointed as director to begin the new year. Miss Margaret Whorl and Mr. Harold Ulmer were named as associates in public relations to work with Mrs. Monteith.

The remaining offices of the administrative staff continued without change and provided for stability in the administration of the College. Although the services rendered both students and faculty were at times less than perfect or ideal, both the quantity and quality of the service rendered by this very limited staff were worthy of praise and congratulations.

ADMISSIONS

Under the new leadership of Mr. Gregory G. Stanson, the office of admissions continued its successful program for carefully joining young men and young women with Lebanon Valley College. To join a student with one of many hundreds of institutions for which he or she qualifies is a very serious process. It was evident throughout the year that patterns of student recruitment in the United States were changing and changing rapidly. Many institutions faced serious decreases in enrollment in 1972-1973. Lebanon Valley, however, was fortunate in meeting its desired enrollment in 1972-1973 and anticipates the same for 1973-1974.

Meeting the financial needs of new students continued to be a serious problem. In preparing for September, 1973, the uncertainty about government programs proved to be harmful. Decisions of students often were required before the announcement of financial plans for which they were eligible.

Adequately acquainting prospective students with Lebanon Valley College was recognized as a process which necessitated more than only the persons directly associated with the office of admissions. The various departments of the College gave assistance to the process. Alumni gave help in many areas. Mr. Stanson will be calling upon more and more people to assist him in giving applicants a full and accurate picture of the College.

PHYSICAL IMPROVEMENTS

Silver Hall, the new dormitory for women, served our students for the first time. It served well. It not only housed more than 120 girls comfortably, but also it enabled the final move from the south to the north section of campus for all residential housing.

Although construction began later than anticipated, the old music building came down, and the new one began to rise. Initial use of the new building is planned for September, 1974.

After the flood of Agnes in June, 1972, the gym floor would not stay fastened to its concrete base. Hills and valleys remained through the year, but some emergency patch jobs did get us to the end of the year's activities. With the help of flood relief dollars from the federal government the floor was replaced during the summer of 1973 and will be used in the 1973-1974 year.

With the assistance of a landscape architect we began to review the campus landscaping and to make plans for long range additions and improvements. The first step accomplished was around the College Center and Green Hall areas. We shall try to take a similar step each year.

What for many of our alumni was a post office and for younger alumni was a book store in recent years became an art studio. For two years much of the art program has been conducted in this building. Improvements were made gradually, and the building now offers the best conditions we have had for the increasingly popular art program.

Under carefully guarded financial restrictions the program for physical improvements continued. Although this kind of program always moves more slowly than one desires, anyone who looked could see our progress.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT

The income to support the budget, as in the past, came from many sources and as a result of much kindness, hard work, and cooperation. Fees from students were naturally the largest single source. For 1972-1973 the student charges were tuition, $2,000; student fee, $50; room, $435; and board, $640. Unfortunately the charges for 1973-1974 had to be increased. They are tuition, $2,175; student fee, $65; room, $475; and board, $700.

The following is a summary of Current Fund Revenues and Expenditures for the year which ended June 30, 1973:

ALUMNI ACTIVITIES

Trips to Europe, pre-game luncheons, a mid-winter homecoming, reorganization of regional alumni clubs, and a return to regional dinners were just some of the new activities of the Lebanon Valley College Alumni Association which filled the year with outstanding events of all kinds for the enjoyment of the alumni and for the support of the College.

Mr. Thomas Reinhart continued as President of the Association, and Dr. Elizabeth Weisburger was re-elected to the Board of Trustees as one of the five alumni representatives on the Board. Alfred Blessing, Walter Levinsky, F. Allen Rutherford, and E. Peter Strickler continued service on the Board.

The Association dared to initiate some new activities which were noted above, and traditionally successful programs appeared again. An increasing number of persons became involved in the life and concern of the College. Groups met on campus and in Boston, Philadelphia, Hartford, Rochester, Pittsburgh, Chicago, Dayton, Los Angeles, San Francisco, and many other places. Help and suggestions came from many people and areas. It is noteworthy to mention a new and very special effort by the president of the Association and several Black alumni. This effort was initiated to increase communication between the College and prospective Black students and to increase the possibilities of attracting more minority group students.

Special thanks and commendations go to all alumni for the extra concern and the fine financial support which were given the College.

FUND*FOR FULFILLMENT

The Lebanon Valley College Fund for Fulfillment completed its second year with more than $2,700,000 committed to the program.

The second year also concluded with a handsome challenge from the Kresge Foundation. The Foundation pledged $250,000 for our music building if we raise the other $1,300,000 to pay for the music building and to complete our original $4,000,000 goal. The challenge to be met by April, 1974, was accepted enthusiastically by the Board of Trustees. It was assumed that every person interested in the College will be willing to pledge an extra amount so that the Kresge gift will be received.

At the risk of boring repetition, I include again in this annual report a brief review of the Fund for Fulfillment. The Fund for Fulfillment is in addition to the Annual Giving Program which supports the general operation of the College. The Fund for Fulfillment is designed to pay for the College Center, the new music building, and to increase the endowment: all within three years. In addition, the Fund for Fulfillment is designed to plan and build a new science building, to provide for a campus entrance, to bridge the railroad, and to reduce indebtedness, all as soon after the first three years as possible.

The Fund for Fulfillment began as a huge program for us. It continues as a big one, but its initial results proved that the end results will meet our purposes and fulfill our needs.

THE PAST AND THE FUTURE

In the fall of 1972 three buildings were blessed with new names. The new dormitory for females was named Silver Hall in memory of Dr. Mabel I. Silver who graduated from LVC in 1925 and who served her God and fellowman as a medical missionary of honor and distinction. Miller Chapel was named in honor of Dr. Frederic K. Miller and his family. Dr. Miller's past and present contributions to the strength and health of Lebanon Valley College are recognized by everyone. The Allan W. Mund College Center was named in honor of Dr. Allan W. Mund whose immeasurable leadership and sharing have assisted all phases of college life.

The year closed with five persons concluding active service on the Board of Trustees. Dr. Warren Mentzer, Mr. Robert Lutz, Dr. Karl Lockwood, Mr. Walter Frankowski, and Miss Nancy Hostetter completed their terms. We are indeed grateful for their unselfish service. Mr. Frankowski and Miss Hostetter were the first students ever to serve on the Board. They paved the way for our continued representative Board of Trustees, one of the pioneers in governance of higher education.

We welcomed Rev. George W. Bashore, Curvin N. Dellinger, Philip C. Herr, II, Dr. Jacob L. Rhodes, Kenneth R. Bickel, Judith L. Haines, and Alan H. Shortell as new members to the Board.

Although Dr. Malcolm Meyer remains on our Board of Trustees and serves as first vice-president, he relinquished the position as president of the Board after two tremendously busy years in that office. In just two years he saw an almost endless amount of activity take place under his leadership. He gave us both leadership and encouragement to complete tasks which seemed almost impossible. Words are inadequate to express our appreciation.

We welcomed to the presidency of the Board Lawton W. Shroyer who has served as trustee since 1952. His generous and active assistance was most recently reflected in his service as first vice-president of the Board and chairman of the Finance Committee.

Shortly after the 1972-1973 year Dr. Albert Watson passed to his eternal reward at the age of 85 years. He served on our Board since 1931. Although he became trustee emeritus in 1968, Dr. Watson remained active in College life and served as honorary co-chairman of the Fund for Fulfillment until his death.

May I conclude this brief report with some expressions of hope for the future. Despite changes in colleges across the nation, I am confident that education (when it is of the highest quality) provided in the small, church-related college will become more visible than ever. Education of less than high quality can hardly be tolerated in any institution much less in one which receives voluntary support from trustees, alumni, church members, and many other persons to sustain a program and style which are worth voluntary time, effort, and financial support. Many in our society will recognize excellence when seen and will appreciate sacrifices which are made to assure it. Few, if any, will knock at the doors of the mediocre institutions for which the trustees, church members, and alumni are unwilling to give their attention and their support.

For cooperation, sacrifices, prayers, leadership, and support I express thanks to the Trustees, the students and the alumni, the faculty and administration, the staff and friends, and the Central and Eastern Pennsylvania Conferences of the United Methodist Church.

COMMITMENT THROUGH GIVING

For the second consecutive year Lebanon Valley College conducted its regular Annual Giving Program concurrently with the Fund for Fulfillment. Receipts in Annual Giving increased $32,710 or 19.7% over those of the previous fiscal year. Thanks to the hard work of many class chairmen, alumni support of Annual Giving increased 31%. These increases are particularly gratifying considering that many alumni and friends are still making payments on pledges to the Fund for Fulfillment.

During 1972-1973, all of the remaining area campaigns were conducted for the Fund for Fulfillment. Total receipts for the campaign now stand at $2,715,392. The highlight of the year was the announcement that Lebanon Valley would receive a challenge grant in the amount of $250,000 from the Kresge Foundation.

It is with a great deal of pleasure, therefore that the Board of Trustees, faculty, administration, and students join in expressing sincere appreciation for the outstanding support received from the many alumni and friends listed on the following pages. Their faith in the College, evidenced by their continued gifts to the Annual Giving Program, made it possible for Lebanon Valley to complete another year without a deficit.

The Development Office has strived to be as accurate as possible in its efforts to recognize individuals, foundations, and firms for their financial support. In the event that any names have been omitted or spelled incorrectly, we trust you will understand and inform us of our error.

CHURCH PARTICIPATION

The College was pleased when support from the Eastern Pennsylvania and Central Pennsylvania conferences of the United Methodist Church surpassed the record set in 1971-1972. A total of $55,536 was received. In addition, the Eastern Pennsylvania Conference decided to reinstitute the Dollar-Per-Member program. It is hoped that this program will provide increased support to Lebanon Valley College from the individual churches.

Lebanon Valley extends a most sincere thanks to the bishops, district superintendents, pastors, and laymen for their continued leadership. Without their concern, this positive report would not be possible. The College also would like to thank the regular church members of both conferences for their indirect support through church offerings and individual commitments to the Fund for Fulfillment. In a time when many institutions are turning away from the church, Lebanon Valley College looks to the church more than ever before.

THE PRESIDENT'S CLUB

Lebanon Valley College is proud to recognize the following alumni and friends who joined the President's Club last year. Membership in the club is awarded to those who contribute a minimum of $500 during the fiscal year to Annual Giving and/or the Fund for Fulfillment. As the accompanying graph illustrates, the President's Club has continued to increase in membership since its beginning in 1969. Included in this listing are individuals who are eligible for club membership because of three year pledges to the capital campaign.

THE CENTURY CLUB

The Lebanon Valley College Century Club consists of alumni and friends whose contributions during the past fiscal year to Annual Giving, the Fund for Fulfillment, or both, total a minimum of $100. Although Century Club membership showed a decline over that of last year, the members of the Century Club and President's Club continue to be the bulwark of the College's financial support.

It was with great pleasure that Lebanon Valley College granted Century Club membership to 938 alumni and friends last year. As is the case with the President's Club, some members of the Century Club are eligible for membership because of the three year pledges made to the Fund for Fulfillment.

The members of both the President's Club and the Century Club are cordially invited to be the guests of the College at the Annual Century Club Dinner on October 12, 1973.

GIFTS BY ALUMNI AND FRIENDS

Increases in unrestricted support were received in six out of seven categories in Annual Giving during the 1972-1973 fiscal year. Notable among these were those increases that occurred in the areas of alumni, friends, and bequests. Total receipts amounted to $198,529. It was a successful year; the College anticipates that record giving levels in Annual Giving will result as more and more alumni and friends complete their pledges to the Fund for Fulfillment.

The following is a listing, by constituency, of all of the donors to the 1972-1973 Annual Giving program. Lebanon Valley is sincerely grateful for the fine support of these individuals and firms. A special thanks is extended to all who supported both Annual Giving and the Fund for Fulfillment, and to the many alumni who served so capably as class chairmen last year.

FUND FOR FULFILLMENT

The College is most appreciative for the help of the many volunteers who made it possible to complete campaigns in the Baltimore, Washington, Lehigh, North New Jersey, Berks, and Anthracite areas in 1972-1973. A total of $108,172 was received. In addition to these area campaigns, the College conducted special dinners in the following cities with the help of alumni liasions: Los Angeles, Boston, Hartford, Rochester, Pittsburgh, Dayton, and Chicago.

The major point of attention right now, of course, is the new music building and the Kresge Challenge. In order to receive the $250,000 foundation grant, $1,300,000 must be secured in cash or pledges by April 15, 1974. Alumni and friends who have already made commitments to the capital campaign can help meet the challenge if they will consider increasing their existing pledges and extending their periods of payment. Those who declined to make a gift when first contacted, can help by making a gift now. Although it may seem distant, the deadline for receipt of the funds will soon be here. Every gift is important.

The College would like to thank the following individuals for their support of the Fund for Fulfillment during the 1972-1973 fiscal year.

MEMORIAL GIFTS

During 1972-1973, 25 alumni and friends elected to make memorial gifts . . . perhaps the most personally rewarding gifts possible. These gifts, made in honor of a departed loved one or respected friend, have a permanence about them which is as solid and enduring as the College itself. Lebanon Valley is very proud to receive such gifts, and accordingly, is pleased to recognize them in a manner suitable to the donor. The Fund for Fulfillment has greatly increased the number of available memorial opportunities. Alumni and friends interested in investigating the possibility of such a gift are asked to contact the director of development for assistance.

Memorial gifts were received in honor of the following individuals during the 1972-1973 fiscal year:

Mr. John Avoletta '34
Miss Emma I. Boyer '19
Mr. George A. DeHuff '17
Mr. James P. Denton '35
Miss Martha C. Faust '37

Dr. E. D. Williams, Sr. '17
Mr. Harry Millard Williams '50

MATCHING GIFTS

Many alumni and friends employed in industry have an opportunity to increase their gifts to Lebanon Valley College two or three times through their employer's matching gift program. Although these programs differ from company to company, the concept was designed by industry as a means to promote and increase financial support of higher education by their employees. It also serves as one of the ways that industry can ascertain that the institutions it supports are relevant to its personnel.

Last year, 40 firms made matching gifts to Lebanon Valley College for a total of $14,251. The College is deeply appreciative, and extends a sincere thanks to both the donor and his employer.

Alumni and friends desiring further information may contact the development office at the College for a listing of participating firms.

BEQUESTS AND DEFERRED GIFTS

Bequests and deferred gifts continue to play a significant role in the financing of the educational program at Lebanon Valley College. During the 1972-1973 fiscal year, the College received $176,580 in deferred gifts and bequests. The College cannot adequately express its appreciation for these final acts of confidence.

Deferred gifts, such as annuities and trusts, have grown in popularity over the past few years. They provide the donor with income and various tax benefits, but more importantly these contributions permit the donor to see his gift dollars at work during his lifetime.

Information regarding either of these forms of giving may be obtained by writing to the director of development. He will be pleased to be of assistance in conjunction with legal counsel.

During the 1972-73 fiscal year, bequests and deferred gifts were received from the following:

Miss Martha C. Faust Estate
Estella R. Fleming Estate
Pearl A. Hill Estate

Hudson O. Hughes Estate
